Paragraphs of the Week

Lewis Farmer, 25, Southport, was killed Sunday when his car collided with a truck on the Brunswick and Augusta road.

Advance Bag & Paper Co., Howland, which was closed in August, 1938, has resumed its operations employing 260 men and women.

Harold E. Weeks, former Maine Senate president, killed himself Tuesday in the Augusta State hospital.

State Comptroller figures have revealed that 74,000 gallons less of hard liquor were sold through the Maine State Liquor Commission in 1938 than in 1937.

In an address to Waterville Legionnaires Monday night, Governor Barrows stressed the fact that all should strive to destroy un-American activities that have beset our State and Nation.

Miss Maude Horne, 61, was murdered in her Milton, N. H., home last Saturday; hunt for John Norman Howland as slayer.

Ohio valley flood waters receding; estimate 30,000 homeless in four states.

Rep. William H. Larrabee of Indiana has introduced an educational aid bill which means that Maine schools may receive Federal aid. Bill allots $258,840 for libraries; $492,465 for adult education.

President has requested $150,000,000 more for relief needs; insists emergency exists and millions now dependent on WPA may be stranded by summer if more money is not appropriated.

Twelve Spanish government pursuit planes landed at a French military airport Sunday. Pilots said that the large number of Spanish insurgent planes forced them to enter France.

Alaskan towns are short of fresh food supplies due to a labor dispute in Seattle.

Representative Van Zandt of Pennsylvania, a World War service man and former commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, urged on the floor of Congress that a survey of defense resources and needs be made before the adoption of a military program which has been asked and may result in wasteful expenditure if not in keeping with actual needs. Defense and not preparation for war in some foreign country was asked. "If we get in a war," stated Van Zandt, "we will have to go over seas to fight it."

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, states the A. F. of L. will have no part in Labor's Non-Partisan League, which is the medium through which John L. Lewis expects to gain control of the Democratic party organization and rule the 1940 convention.

Idle bank funds are cited by the Federal Reserve Board as a possible danger of credit inflation. Idle funds or excess reserves in Federal Reserve Member banks now total about $3,600,000,000, a figure never before attained. Banks could inaugurate a credit inflation program with this reserve with power in the Federal Reserve Board to check it. The government's liberal lending policy is charged with responsibility for this all time record of idle reserves.

WEST PARIS BOY KILLED IN SLIDING ACCIDENT

Norman Traffon, son of Howard Eugene and Sylvia Purainen Ordway, was instantly killed late Saturday afternoon when sliding on the sidewalk in front of Cummings Block at West Paris. His sled went over a step at the end of the sidewalk and his head was crushed beneath the rear wheel of Maurice Benson's oil truck which was proceeding from Main to Maple Street. Mr. Benson was absolved of any blame.

Norman was born in West Paris, Sept. 10, 1934. Besides his parents he is survived by a sister, Roberta, aged one year; his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ordway of Bryant Pond and Mr. and Mrs. Antti Purainen of Pleasant Valley, Paris; several uncles, aunts and cousins.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Universalist Church. Rev. Eleanor B. Forbes, pastor of the church, officiated, assisted by Rev. Felix Mayblom, pastor of the Finnish Congregational Church, and Rev. James MacKillop of Bryant Pond.

The bearers were David Dunham, Roy P. Perham Jr., Earle Hollis, and Laurie Littlehale of Bryant Pond. The remains were placed in the tomb at Wayside Cemetery, West Paris.

LOCAL B. S. A. TROOP OBSERVES SCOUT WEEK

Eleven visitors were present at the meeting of the Boy Scouts at the Legion Rooms Monday evening. An interesting program, including a demonstration of artificial respiration, knot tying and bandaging, and first aid questions and answers was given in observance of Boy Scout Week. Thirteen Scouts were in attendance. Roscoe Swain led in opening, and the meeting was closed with the Scout Cheer, led by the cheer leader, David Kirk.

During a hike Saturday afternoon, Earl Hutchinson passed his fire building test. The troop attended services at the Methodist Church Sunday morning.

GOULD BOYS PARTICIPATE IN GORHAM WINTER CARNIVAL

Several members of the Gould ski team traveled to Gorham last Saturday and took part in their Annual Winter Carnival. Although they had no chance at the team prize because they entered but a few events, nevertheless they did well in the skiing. The following won medals:

Crosscountry—R. Baker, 2nd; I. Cummings 3rd.
Downhill—D. Brooks (tied for second).
Ski Dash—J. Cummings, 2nd; F. Littlehale, 3rd.

In the slalom race R. Baker had misfortune to be disqualified for missing one flag after having set up a time five seconds faster than the winner. E. Brown also lost third place by his three-second penalty for knocking down a pole with his ski pole.

Thursday afternoon, Feb. 9, at 3 p. m., the Gould boys will entertain Mexico High at Anderson's Ski Slopes. There will be jumping, crosscountry, slalom, and downhill as well as some snowshoeing.

Saturday the team goes to Watford to participate in the winter carnival sponsored by the Crooked River Outing Club. Norway and South Paris High Schools also have signified their intentions of entering this competition.

MRS. ROSS KNAPP

This community was grieved to learn of the death of Mrs. Mabelle Moulton Knapp, wife of Ross Knapp, which occurred Friday evening after a few hours illness.

Mrs. Knapp was born in North New Portland, July 24, 1888, the daughter of J. Sanborn and Emily Tripp Moulton. She attended the schools in that town and was graduated from North New Portland High School.

On Dec. 16, 1911, she was married to Ross Knapp. One daughter, Ruby, was born to them. In 1924 they moved to Bethel, where Mrs. Knapp has been a first class dressmaker. She was a Past Noble Grand of the Rebekah Lodge of North New Portland, and a member of the Ladies' Club of the local Congregational Church.

Survivors include her husband, Ross Knapp; a daughter, Ruby, of Portland; her father, J. Sanborn Moulton, and a sister, Mrs. Dan Wendell, both of North New Portland; a brother, Ellery Moulton of Worcester, Mass.; a niece and a nephew.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Greenleaf's funeral home. Rev. Herbert T. Wallace officiated. Entombment was at Woodlawn cemetery and interment will take place in the spring at North New Portland.

INSURANCE DEPT. WORK EXPLAINED AT C. OF C. MEETING

The annual meeting of the Bethel Chamber of Commerce was held at the American Legion Rooms Tuesday evening with an attendance of 18 members and 10 visitors. Following a supper, served by the Legion Auxiliary at 6:30, the report of the Treasurer was read and officers for the year were elected as follows:

President—H. I. Bean
Vice-President—Ralph Burris
Secretary—Gerard Williams
Treasurer—Harold Chamberlin
Committees will be appointed at the March meeting. The committee in charge of the next meeting is H. P. Austin, F. A. Hunt and E. Leroy Brown.

The program which followed the business meeting comprised a band solo and encore by Sidney Howe, accompanied on the piano by Miss Kathryn Davis, after which a talk by Joseph A. P. Flynn, State Insurance Department investigator, held the close attention of the audience for an hour or more. Mr. Flynn explained the work of his department since its organization two years ago, especially in the work of investigating incendiary fires. He cited cases in this and other states, showing the results of carelessness, fire hazards, and inadequate provision for fire escapes. He also explained the proposed legislation for inspection of buildings which is before the Legislature now in session.

ATTENTION LADIES!

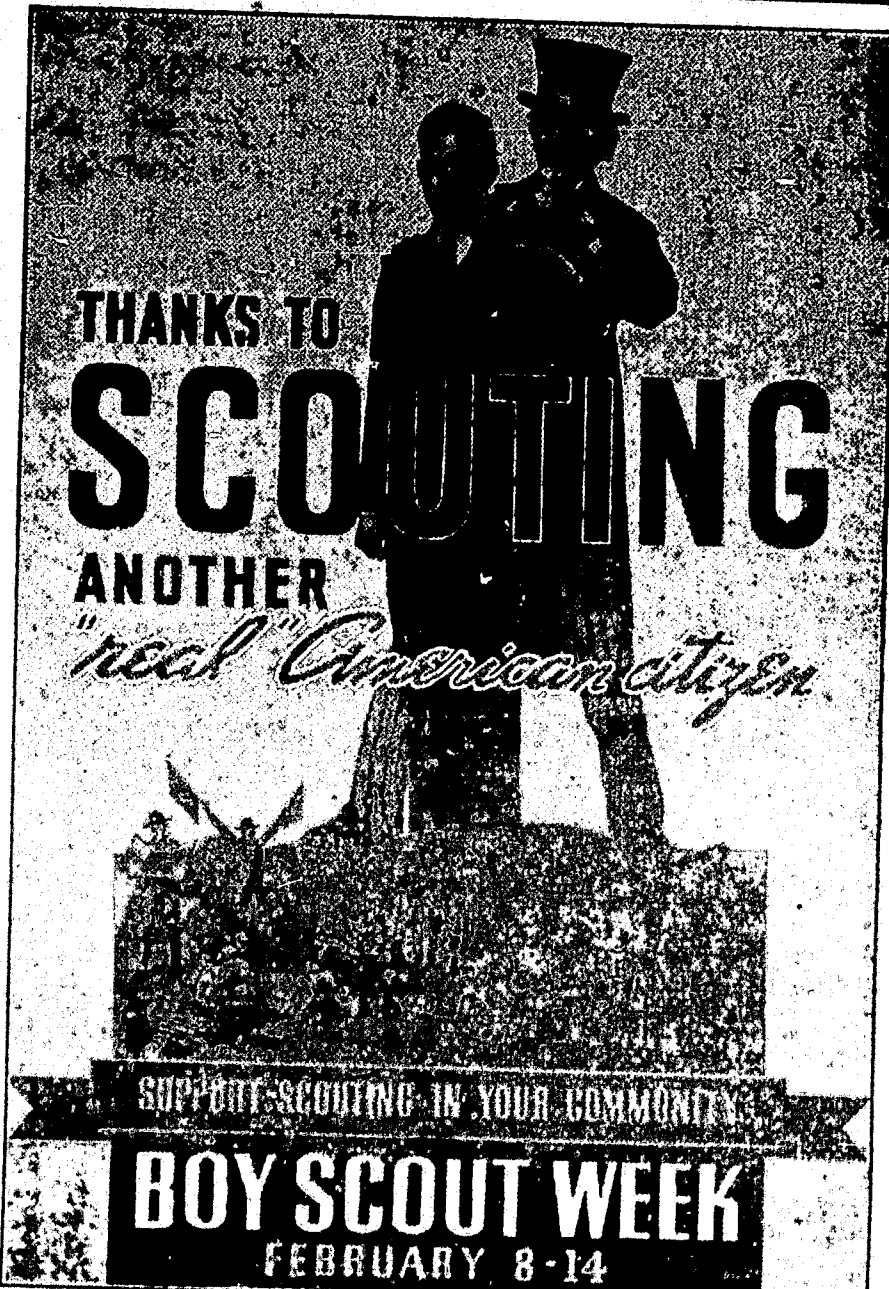

On Saturday, February 11th, nineteen hundred and thirty-nine Two-thirty in the afternoon is the time.

The Ladies Aid, Group 1 to be exact are having a food sale, think of that.

As a specialty on this sale, they are having baked beans. And, of course, there will be brown bread and rolls by all means; They'll be plenty of cookies, doughnuts and pies.

When pickles are added just watch friend husband's eyes; Remember the date and don't be left in the lurch. The Ladies will be waiting for you at the Methodist Church. adv.

THREE ALARM BLAZE . . . Three alarm mobilization of firemen and fire-fighting apparatus failed to dim this spectacle as flames enveloped upper floors and completely destroyed Philadelphia paper box plant as thousands of persons watched.

LOST TO BASEBALL . . . Death of Col. Jacob Ruppert (right) multi-millionaire brewer and owner of New York Yankees has robbed baseball of one of its most colorful figures. Colonel is shown above on occasion in 1930 when he signed his greatest star, Babe Ruth, to $80,000 contract, largest amount ever paid individual player for one year's work.

LUCKY STATESMAN . . . Warm welcome, as indicated by kiss from pretty native girl of Bastia, awaited Premier Edouard Daladier, as head of French government, on his "loyalty" tour of Corsica and Tunisia. Many similar evidences of native loyalty to France, rather than Italy, some quarters of which are demanding cession of those territories, were given Premier.

CARNIVAL DAYS IN THE OXFORD COUNTY UNITED PARISH

Carnival days are here again in the Parish! The "Big Show" begins Friday night with the showing of the Carnival Drama, followed immediately by the Carnival Frolic and Mardi Gras. You will want to be there right at the start, Friday evening. Remember that when you buy your Carnival Pin you will get with it a vote for the Carnival Queen, and also a ticket. This ticket will admit a Grammar School pupil to the play either evening, and will with 15 cents extra be good for an adult admission. So have your ticket ready to present at the door Friday evening.

Then on Saturday the events are scheduled to begin at 9:30 a. m. on the Hersey Farm, on the direct road between North Waterford and Waterford. Other races will be held after the Slalom and Down Hill Races at the Common, North Waterford.

Remember you will find at noon an appetizing dinner waiting for you at the Vestry, North Waterford. Also a good chance to get warm, and enjoy the good fellowship of the hour. The program of races will be finished in the afternoon: the prizes awarded and the Queen crowned, and the drama, "Happy Landings," repeated in the evening. A large number of high schools have signified their intention to enter a team. These include Fryeburg Academy, Gould Academy, Mexico, Norway, South Paris and Windham. We are also expecting girls' teams from Bethel ton Academy, South Paris and Windham.

We also have heard that Walter Swank is to be present; and many of his friends will want to be on hand to greet him.

If they keep on as they have been going we feel sure that East Stoneham will be ahead on Sunday with the best attendance. The Town House School also had a good attendance Sunday afternoon to hear Mr. Bicket. This week the meeting will be held at the Clark School.

The Pilgrim Fellowship will meet at North Waterford Sunday evening, and the leader will be Miss Christine Pinkham of Albany.

The Recreational Council will meet Monday evening at West Bethel.

At present writing we are expecting that the Bear Mountain Community Club will serve one of their delicious suppers Friday evening at 6:30; and this will be followed by the presentation of the Carnival Drama.

The Craters of the Moon
The area designated as the Craters of the Moon takes in only a fraction of a region of extremely interesting geography. The Snake river desert includes several thousand square miles of arid land underlaid with lava. On all horizons the desert is rimmed by snowcapped mountains, faint in the blue distance. To the west are the Lost River ranges, where the Big and Little Lost rivers have their headwaters. After leaving the mountains these streams wander about in the desert some 30 or 40 miles, and finally, as if in resignation, vanish completely in the Lost River sinks.

Hawaii Has Largest Volcanoes
Colossal is just another adjective to rangers in the United States National park on Hawaii Island. The most westerly park in America contains, the rangers report, these features: Kilauea, the world's largest active volcano; Haleakala, the world's largest extinct volcano; Mauna Kea, the highest mountain in the world rising directly from the sea (13,825 ft.); Mauna Loa (13,675 feet), the largest single mountain mass in the world, and the world's most symmetrical mountain; Halemaumau, the world's only volcanic fire pit where one may safely drive to the very brink of the crater.

What Is A Trifle—

A loose thread, a lost minute, a penny more or less? Any of these things may lead to unexpected but important consequences.

Just how important is the penny? The ads in this paper give you a good illustration.

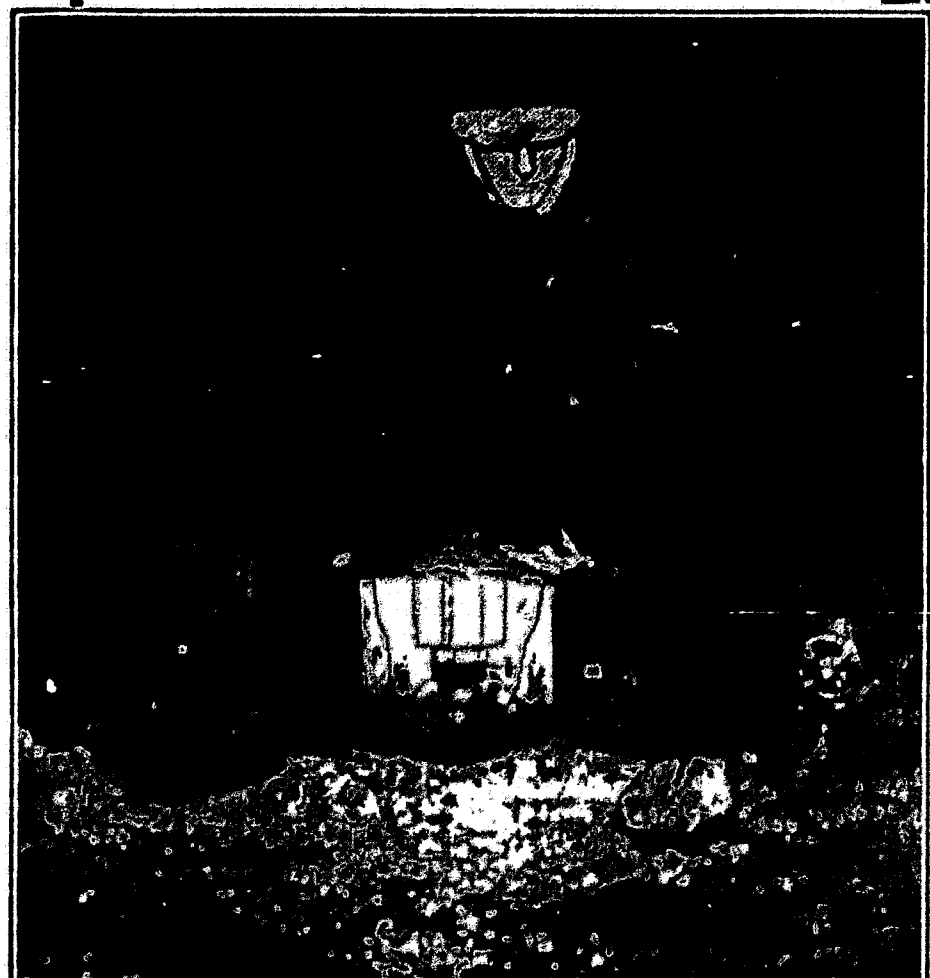

The pennies you save, multiplied by the minutes you gain, will become savings that mount into the dollars. These are trifles worth while.

News Item: Some Business Firms Must Fill Out as Many As 141,000 Government Reports Annually

The SNAPSHOT GUILD OUTDOORS AT NIGHT

Flash bulbs make outdoor snaps possible at night, even with slow lens cameras. Here, lantern provided atmosphere, but flash bulb, held above camera, supplied light needed for detail in subject.

UNTIL a few years ago, snapshots outdoors at night were rather hard to make. Now, thanks to extra high speed film, thousands of snapshots take them. The fast film plus a fast lens is sufficient for brightly-lighted street scenes and flood-lighted buildings.

For outdoor pictures of people at night, all one needs is a camera that can be set for a time exposure, and a "flash" bulb in its inexpensive flashlight-type holder.

To take such pictures, simply place the camera on a firm support, and set the shutter for "time." Position the subject in front of the camera, click the shutter open, flash the bulb and close the shutter. If the surroundings are dark and there are no lights within the view of the lens, the camera may be held in the hand.

For flash pictures, the camera can be loaded either with regular "chrome type" film or one of the panchromatic films. The distance between the flash bulb and the subject determines the size lens opening you should use.

Here are suggested distances from bulb to subject, outdoors, when you use a No. 15-size bulb with the metal reflector that is a part of the small battery operated holder: for "chrome" type film, 7 feet; for high speed film, 14 feet. These distances will provide correct exposure when you use a box camera, or a camera with anastigmat lens set at F16. Correct distance from light to subject is important; but distance from camera to subject doesn't matter, as far as illumination is concerned.

Several of the special small flash bulbs can be carried in an overcoat pocket. These are convenient to carry on a hike. They can be used for box-camera pictures if high speed film is employed—but, of course, since the small bulb yields less light than a large bulb, it must be placed nearer the subject.

With flash bulbs, you can picture winter sports subjects at night, and other outdoor activities, though without a special flash bulb synchronizer, do not attempt to "stop" very rapid action. Interesting lighting effects can be obtained by flashing the bulb from unusual positions—for example, holding it low to obtain a lighting angle which suggests firelight.

With time exposures, excellent pictures can be obtained of campfire scenes at the skating rink or pond. Campfire "time" exposures can be made without using a flash bulb—or, the bulb can be flashed just at the end of the exposure, to obtain added detail in the scene. For true firelight pictures, the high speed panchromatic films are best.

Take your camera along whenever you go on a skating or sleighing excursion, or moonlight hike. A few flash bulbs enable you to use the camera—and "flash" pictures are always unusual and interesting.

WHY

Grasshoppers Are Changed Into Flying Type.

The locusts of the Bible were not locusts at all. Just grasshoppers. They did not hop. They flew. Our grasshoppers hop. Query: Why don't our grasshoppers fly? And why didn't the biblical grasshoppers hop? Dr. J. R. Parker of the Department of Agriculture thinks he has found the answer. It has a bearing on drouth.

Ask Dr. Parker and he will tell you that hopping grasshoppers can be changed into fliers, thereby clearing up the biblical mystery. He kept Western grasshoppers in his laboratory, juggled temperature, humidity, food, and noted the effect. Heat and hunger changed hoppers into fliers. Wings became longer and finer, bodies slimmer, colors brighter.

What is the reason? Dr. Parker explains in terms of the survival of the fittest. When there is no food—the case in hot deserts—hopping and walking are accomplishments of little aid in the struggle for existence. Flying ability counts. So the hoppers develop it. Fifty years ago—in 1880 to be exact—clouds of grasshoppers darkened the European and American sky. The insects clustered three inches thick on some railroad tracks. Wheels simply slipped.

China Has Suicide Mountain

A cruel trick of nature causes many suicides on sacred Mt. Omei, according to the Chinese government in discussing the 11,000-foot peak which sits on a carpet of clouds. At the top, pilgrims stand on a plateau, look down and sometimes see on clouds below the "image of Buddha." Believing he has come in person to welcome them to the after-life, they jump off the cliff. Actually, the "image of Buddha" is their own shadows, cast on the clouds below by the sun. Nature has other tricks that lead humans astray. Best known is the mirage, the reflection of distant objects by rebounding light. Mirages occur most often in deserts, but back in 1868 Gaston Tissandier reported one from a balloon above Calais, France. He saw ships, "sailing in the sky," reflected from the English channel.

How to Make Porch Seat

An attractive seat for the kitchen or porch can be made from a discarded auto cushion. Make a low wooden bench, the size of which depends on the cushion at hand, and place the cushion on top. Use a strip of bright-colored cloth to cover the ends and front of the cushion, and another piece of the same material to form a "skirt" for the bench, letting the cloth extend almost to the floor.

How to Rescue Drowning Man

A drowning person gets a death hold on the nearest object, tries to climb over it out of the water. Hence best rescue plan is to throw something, a piece of wood or clothing, by which the person can be towed. Only as a last resort should you get within arm's distance. Approach the person from the back, if possible. If you can't break his hold, take a deep breath and submerge. That may make him let go.

Treasures Buried Beneath Panama

In spite of the fact that Morgan and his men after having razed and burned Panama took away 195 mule loads of jewels, huge quantities of gold and silver, sacred golden cups, pearls and precious stones, the tradition is that beneath the ruins of that historical city are buried treasures, hidden by the natives in the hope of saving their riches from the greed of the pirates. A few years ago valuable antique jewels, altar pieces and gold ornaments used in churches were found in excavations made with the consent of the authorities.

Whiskers Mark of Strength

Whiskers have long been the mark of a real man. By nature, women, boys and girls can't grow 'em, observes a writer in the Washington Post. Elizabethan writers tell how men "wasted many hours" on their beards and mustaches, per-fuming, starching, powdering and curling them. A few decades ago American dandies were careful to wrap their curled and waxed mustaches in tinfoil before shaving. And as late as 1907 French waiters went on strike because they had been forbidden to grow mustaches.

GOULD TEAMS WALLOP MECHANIC FALLS

Gould Boys 54-19 Victors

The Gould Academy quint had an easy time trouncing a very weak Mechanic Falls team here Friday by the tune of 54-19. The game started out with a bang as the visitors scored twice to take a lead which they fought furiously to hold during the first period. The period ended with the score Gould 7—Mechanic Falls 6.

In the second period the team started clicking and with Wentzell, Palmer, and Brown finding their eye the score started steadily mounting with the half-time count of 24 to 9.

The second half was simply a question of how high a score the home team could gather.

Gould Girls Winners 52-22

The Gould girls with Lowe, Chapman and Smith playing stellar ball ran riot over the visiting girls' aggregation. The game was fairly close during the first two periods but in the second half the local lassies showed a decided superiority.

The Boys' summary follows:

OLD ORCHARD HERE FRIDAY

The preliminary game Friday night, starting at 7:15 finds the strong South Paris Junior High team playing the Gould "B" Squad. The visitors already have a win over the local youngsters but the game Friday should prove a close interesting game. South Paris really has some clever little players that are a pleasure to watch.

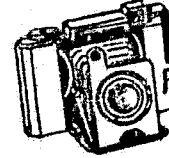

In the main game Gould will defend its record against Old Orchard. The two teams will be meeting for the fourth time and Gould has been the victor in the other three games. Not much can be said of the comparative strength of the two clubs as they play no common foe. The visitors however will put up a real fight in an effort to wipe out Goulds succession of victories over them.

Paul Whiteman
Ride 'em Cowboy

LISTEN TO THIS

By TOM FIZDALE

We mentioned Paul Whiteman's penchant for cowboy clothes or anything western a couple of weeks ago, and now comes word from Fort Worth, Texas, that he has been booked to play the Southwestern Exposition and Fair Stock Show there from March 10 to 19. That will give Mr. P. W., a chance to renew old acquaintances, ride the range on Amon Carter's ranch and do two of his neatest shows from the Lone Star State.

Connie Vance, secretary to madcaps Gill and Deming, is the only steno we know who doesn't raise an eyebrow when told to report for work dressed in hip boots, bathing suit or jodhpurs. She follows her bosses from beach to bridge path, jotting down quips as they let them fall.

John J. Anthony has been signed for another year to conduct the Original Good Will Hour on Mutual and is readying a newspaper column along the same line.

Latest addition to the popular Betty & Bob cast is Stanley Harris in the role of a newspaper man. Harris has done everything from play football to crack up in an army plane and still hasn't quenched his thirst for adventure.

Bob Trout celebrated his sixth anniversary of helping President Roosevelt celebrate his birthday when he introduced him on the air the other week on that occasion.

The characters and atmosphere in The Story of Mary Marlin are really authentic, whether the action be in this country, Europe or Asia. Author Jane Crumhury spent many years on each Continent and writes from first-hand experience.

When Bob Hope insisted that bandleader-singer Skinnay Ennis also do comedy lines on his broadcast he almost had a war on his hands. Ennis finally gave in and as a result he has a new motion picture contract. Bob is still kidding him.

World-Wide Revival

Benny Goodman and his swingsters head for the west coast to do a two weeks' stand at the San Francisco Fair, starting March 15. Their cut will be $12,500 per, plus percentage. Who said swing is on the wane?

August 20, 1939, has been set as the date for the first World-Wide Revival in the history of the Christian church, with Dr. Charles E. Fuller, conductor of radio's Old Fashioned Revival Hour, officiating. It will be held at the San Francisco Fair.

Just in case you have ever wondered about it—lovely Frances Langford never goes out alone, even to her Star Theatre broadcast. Hubby Jon Hall is her constant companion.

Songo Pond

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Foster were at their camp here Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Stone and little daughter of Fryeburg were guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Kimball, Sunday.

A number from here attended the Cowboy Caravan Wednesday evening at Bethel.

Leonard Kimball is busy plowing the roads.

Roger Clough has finished cutting ice on Songo Pond.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Clough and children have been staying at Leonard Kimball's the last few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kimball were in South Windham and Gorham on business Monday and called on Mrs. Kimball's mother, Mrs. Maud Grindle.

Ralph Kimball was home over the week-end from Standish, where he is employed.

BARBARA SEARS' PAINTINGS SHOW REAL NEW ENGLAND

Local friends of Miss Sears will be interested in this article which appeared in the Boston Globe of Feb. 4.

You feel like saying: "This is New England," when you see the exhibition of paintings by Barbara Sears in the art gallery of the Boston City Club. For nearly every one of these paintings is stamped with that spirit of picturesque New England which gives to it a distinction all its own.

There is nothing particularly "classical" about the beauty of the New England landscape. It has no castles, no palaces, no terraces, no temple groves. It is democratic—this New England landscape. There is something fine and easy about it all. This applies to its hills and mountains as well as its valleys, its fields, and its rural simplicity of its settlements.

That is the New England which Barbara Sears sees, loves and paints. It is, evidently in her blood—part of her nature. It is all beautiful to her—in Winter, Spring, Summer and Autumn. It is the same story told in a different way—told in the color changes and the color beauty of the different seasons. In this respect she is an exceptionally gifted artist.

This young woman has matured in her art wonderfully the past few years. There was a certain timidity in the work she exhibited in this same gallery a few years ago. She saw it all, and felt the beauty of the scene, but she was a little afraid of it. That fear has evidently left her. Though she is still a very young woman she paints with the skill and assurance of a veteran.

That is why this exhibition is so fascinating. There is a vigor and freshness in these pictures—in every one of them—that is very unusual. She sees the sky and the clouds as well as the landscape. She understands that wonderful luminosity which is peculiar to New England—a luminosity which is especially sparkling in Summer and Winter.

Always there is a certain simplicity in her pictures. In some of them, like "Deserted Farmhouse," there is a sort of pathos. You sense a little of the drama of New England rural life in such a picture—in its very loveliness. In the hill and mountain pictures there is that sense of peace and stillness—the restorative calm which can only be found in such places or at sea.

What charm of color and light and suggestion there is in that little Winter scene entitled "The Village," or in "Winter Road, Lexington," or on "Cold March Afternoon," and also "The Red Barn."

These are beautifully painted,

In "August," she has caught the subtle, pervasive color beauty of the lush green of the foliage on the mountain, as well as the valley. It took a sort of unconscious courage to paint that picture. This is also true of "October," in which the barn plays such an important part. "Puzzle Mountain" is another beauty. So is "Spy Pond—Springtime." That delicate web of russet leaves on the foreground trees is a fine achievement.

"Sunlit Road" is a gem—painted in a big free way, and dazzling in its luminosity and color contrasts.

There is a view of the "Ritz Carlton Hotel," from the Public Garden, which includes part of the bridge, which is a great bit of painting—well done.

Take it all in all, this is a memorable exhibition. It is so honest.

A. J. Philpott.

Coffee and Tarts Win All Hearts On St. Valentine's Day!

The fairest of fare, fit for any king, is fragrant and steaming hot coffee with heart-topped cherry-filled tarts for St. Valentine's Day doings. The tarts are dainty and delicious, but the modern queen knows well that the coffee pot holds the key to any man's heart.

So—get your man with coffee on St. Valentine's Day, for you can't lose with these winning rules:

Use Enough Coffee: One heaping tablespoon of coffee to each cup of water is the most popular proportion.

Make Coffee Fresh Always: Never reheat coffee; serve it fresh and hot.

Always Scald The Pot: Before using, the coffee pot should always be rinsed in boiling water.

Keep Coffee-Making Equipment Clean: Always wash your coffee-making equipment with fresh clean water—never in your dish water.

Tasty accompaniments topped with whipped cream (or ice cream if you prefer), the rosy tarts are made with the following recipe:

Valentine Tarts

(Pastry)

1 1/2 cups flour 1/2 teaspoon phosphate baking powder
4 tablespoons butter 4 tablespoons lard
1/2 teaspoon salt Water to mix

Mix dry ingredients; cut in fat with knife or spatula. Do not over mix. Add just enough water to combine ingredients; work lightly together with a fork until dough is formed. Roll on floured board to desired thickness. Line pastry shells and "crimp" edges. Cut hearts with cutter and bake on top or separately, then drop on the finished tarts.

(Filling)

1 can cherries 2 thin slices lemon
3/4 cup juice cut in quarters
3 tablespoons sugar Small unbaked pie
2 tablespoons corn-shells
starch

Sprinkle pie shells with half the cornstarch and sugar mixture. Place 1 lemon quarter in each tart shell and pour in cherries and juice. Sprinkle with remaining cornstarch and sugar. Bake at 450° F. for 20 minutes. Serve hot with ice cream or cold with whipped cream sprinkled with chopped pecans if desired.

HOW

URUGUAYANS CHOSE FLAG OF BLUE, WHITE AND RED.

The Uruguayan national colors are blue and white and date from the year 1810, in which the movement for independence from Spain began. These were the colors chosen by the patriots at Buenos Aires who on May 25, 1810, overthrew the Spanish authorities which ruled the United Provinces of the River Plate. Artigas, the forerunner of Uruguayan independence, the man who for years fought with all his might to liberate his country and who is alive truly in the hearts of all Uruguayans, even if he died in exile, used these colors in his flag. His flag was formed by two blue stripes separated by a white stripe, with a diagonal red bar.

These three colors, blue, white and red, appeared again in 1825 at the time Uruguay was under Portuguese and Brazilian domination. At that time, says the Washington Post, a small and daring group of patriots, known as the Thirty-three, began a "liberating crusade" which brought about the establishment of an Uruguayan government. These men fought under a flag composed of three horizontal stripes, blue, white and red.

At the beginning of 1828, the Argentinian flag was hoisted over Uruguay, which at that time was still recognized as one of the United Provinces of the River Plate.

National independence was declared by a congress which met in 1828, which resolved that the national flag should be white with nine horizontal and alternated blue stripes and with a sun in a white square in the upper side nearest the flagstaff. The design of the flag was modified in 1830 and at the present time it consists of four horizontal blue stripes in a white field and a sun placed in a white square in the upper corner nearest the flagstaff.

Friends of Mrs. Edward Warren, who is very ill at the Rumford hospital, are pleased to learn she has gained a little.

Grandfather Bennett, who has been ill with a very bad cold, is better at this writing.

Howler Monkey Is Noisy

The howler monkey, whose deep-throated voice echoes through the depths of the Panamanian jungles can be heard in the jungle day and night, and many visitors have mistaken it for the roar of lions. His voice, like that of the singing toad, is louder from a distance, decreasing in volume as one approaches. But even at close range it is unusual when compared with the bird-like notes of white-faced and other species of monkeys. Even though he is small in comparison to a lion, the mantled howler is the largest and heaviest of all New World monkeys. His fur is unusually beautiful, shading from very dark brown tones to light. He is of a gregarious nature, traveling in troops and clinging through the tree tops. He swings by his tail, a characteristic peculiar to New World monkeys.

Hanging Gardens for King's Wife

The Hanging Gardens of Babylon were a system of terraced gardens near the Euphrates river attached to the palace of King Nebuchadnezzar, which was 60 miles from the present city of Baghdad and not far from the eastern border of the Syrian desert of northern Arabia. It is said that Nebuchadnezzar constructed these prodigious gardens to gratify the whim of his wife, Amyitis, to have something of her native hills and forests near.

MRS. NELLIE F. MOODY

Mrs. Nellie F. Moody died Monday night at the home of Christopher Bryant, Locke Mills, where she had been housekeeper for the past 25 years. She had been in ill health for a long time. She was born Oct. 20, 1863, the daughter of Ezra and Eliza Thurlow Riddon.

She is survived by a nephew, Clarence A. Riddon of Portland; three nieces, Mrs. Dora A. Jackson, Mrs. Della R. Penley, and Mrs. Bertha Buck, all of West Paris, and other more distant relatives.

Funeral services are held this Thursday afternoon at 1:30 at the Universalist Church, West Paris. Entombment at Wayside Cemetery, West Paris. Burial in the family lot in Woodstock.

GOULD 27-S. PARIS 29

Gould Academy played excellent basketball last night to win its fourth straight victory and turn the tables on the highly favored South Paris quintet. The entire team played good ball, going to work in the first minute of the game to gain a lead which they never relinquished. The locals led 6-4 at the quarter and 11-7 at the half.

It was the third period however that saw the downfall of the Paris team as Gould continued its scoring to 22 points while holding the loser to one field goal, making their total 9. With the score 24 to 14 and just three minutes to go the Paris quintet put on their last but unsuccessful rally with Gould easily coasting in to a neat 27-20 victory.

Holt and Brown deserve special credit for the fine defensive work they performed against South Paris' two versatile forwards, Lahti and Dennison.

Why Control Counts in Sports, Business, Habits

On the baseball diamond, the difference between a great pitcher and a dub who can merely throw a ball hard, is largely a matter of control, asserts a writer in the Washington Star.

Fire, when under control, turns the wheels of industry. When out of control, it is one of the most destructive forces in the world.

A brilliant scientist, making revolutionary discoveries in his laboratory, may be changed into a helpless madman, simply by losing control over his mind.

Sounds pretty important, doesn't it—this matter of control? And it is. The motorist, the airplane pilot, the locomotive engineer—the life of each one depends absolutely on his ability to control his machine.

But that isn't all. Control is important for you, too—control over your habits, your temper, your undesirable impulses, your unworthy thoughts. If you have it, you'll be like the good baseball pitcher, and win a lot of games. If you don't, you'll be like the dub who not only never gets to first base, but who never even makes the team.

Why Shooting Star Has Tail

The reason why a shooting star appears to have a tail trailing behind is that an image remains in our eyes for about one-sixteenth of a second, says Pearson's London Weekly. Since the falling meteorite (wrongly called "shooting star") is moving very quickly, it has covered quite a distance before that one-sixteenth of a second has passed; so there appears to be a tail. It is the same phenomenon that makes the spokes of a whirling wheel look solid; and it is also the basis for the apparent continuous action on the cinema screen on which sixteen pictures are flashed every second.

Why Top of Wheel Moves Faster

When you see a motor-car at speed, take a good look at the top and bottom spokes of the wheels. The top spokes will appear blurred because they are moving fastest, while the bottom spokes will be much clearer because they are moving much slower. The explanation is that the part of the wheel which touches the ground does not move at all for a brief instant, otherwise it would slip and skid. The top of the wheel moves that much faster to compensate.

Why Sheaf of Wheat Is Used

A sheaf of wheat is often used in a floral piece for the funeral of an elderly person as a symbol of a full and complete life; the sheaf of ripe wheat is appropriate.

ANDREWS RECEPTION HELD AT WEST PARIS FRIDAY EVE

Mr. and Mrs. Lenwood Andrews, who were recently married at Malden, Mass., gave a public reception at Good Will Hall, West Paris, last Friday evening at eight o'clock. A large company was present to offer congratulations to this popular young couple.

The hall was decorated in green and white by the Glad Hand class, Mrs. Ellsworth D. Curtis, chairman. In the receiving line with the bride and bridegroom were the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Woods, of Malden, Mass., and the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harlan M. Andrews of West Paris. The ushers were Elwood and Leroy Titus Jr. of South Paris, cousins of the bridegroom, and Lewis J. Mann and Floyd Dean. Music was furnished throughout the evening by a small orchestra of musical associates of Mr. Andrews, composed of Miss Grace Dean, Albert Drouin and Howard Shaw of South Paris and Keith Emery of West Paris.

Following the reception a program of music and readings was presented in charge of the bridegroom's brother, Stanley Andrews. Mrs. Keith Emery sang "I Love You Truly" and responded to encore. Mrs. Fred Scribner of Paris gave two humorous readings. Clarence Dean of Lewiston played an accordion solo with encore.

Lewis J. Mann gave two readings from Holman F. Day and Rudyard Kipling. Albert Drouin rendered a piano solo and encore. Refreshments were served by the Glad Hand class. After the bride cut her cake it was served by Mrs. Edward L. Penley of Lewiston and Mrs. J. Albert Jackson. Mrs. Stanley Andrews was in charge of the guest book and Mrs. Leroy Titus of South Paris was in charge of the gift table.
